Ike Demands Bond Interest Lid's Removal

Presidential Message Calls Curb 'Archaic'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reopened his tight money battle with Congress Tuesday in a brief, almost curt, special message demanding removal of the interest ceiling on government bonds.

Congressional inaction on removing the 4 1/2 per cent ceiling last session, Eisenhower said, has had the effect of loading taxpayers with interest rates on the national debt at the highest levels in several decades.

"I deem it imperative, therefore, that this restrictive ceiling be removed," Eisenhower's three-paragraph message said.

It was the first special White House message of the new session, attesting to the urgency which Eisenhower attaches to the measure left languishing in a House committee when Congress adjourned last summer.

Dates Back To World War I
Widespread opposition in Congress is ascribed to the unwillingness of the Democrats—who oppose the administration's tight money policy—to vote for any increase in interest rates.

Eisenhower gave notice he is asking Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson to transmit proposed legislation that would take away "this archaic restriction on flexible debt management."

The ceiling dates back to the Liberty Loan drives of World War I.

It forbids the Treasury to pay more than 4 1/2 per cent on securities maturing in five years or more. In the recent sustained and general upsurge of interest rates, the Treasury has been forced to rely on more frequent, shorter-term borrowings. These are considered inflationary.

The President said this practice has brought about a much more rapid increase in short term debt than would otherwise have occurred.

Interest Has Soared
Interest has soared on the Treasury's recent offerings of three-month and six-month bills and other short-term securities.

The Treasury paid 5 per cent on an October issue of notes maturing in 4 years and 10 months—a maturity just short enough to escape the ceiling. Last week the Treasury was forced to give a record 5.099 per cent on six-month bills.

As such borrowings become an increasingly heavier portion of the 290-billion-dollar federal debt, interest charges bulk larger in the federal budget. Interest charges now cost the taxpayers more than nine billion dollars a year, or $11 out of every $100 the government spends.

Syrian Dam Planned

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The United Arab Republic has set in motion an 85-million-dollar project to build the first stage of a dam on the Euphrates in Syria similar to the Aswan Dam on the Nile. It is designed to irrigate 1 1/2 million acres and generate 100,000 kilowatts. Soviet experts are surveying three possible locations.

Daddy Grace, Picturesque Negro Evangelist, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charles Manuel Grace, picturesque Negro evangelist and church founder revered by millions, died Tuesday. He was 78.

Daddy Grace, as he was known to adherents across the nation, succumbed in a hospital shortly after midnight. Dr. Henry Silver said he suffered a heart attack Friday and a stroke Sunday.

The elegant and opulent elder claimed that his church, the House of Prayer for All People, had a membership of three million in more than 60 cities.

"I am all people's man," he told his flock. "I am the boy friend of the world!"

The colorful religious leader looked and lived the part. He painted his houses of worship—and his fingernails—red, white and blue. He wore a mustache and cutaway coats. Some of his coats were green with trousers to match. His fingers were jeweled

Creation Of New Senior Cabinet Post Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Creation of a new senior cabinet post of secretary of foreign affairs was proposed in a foreign policy study released Tuesday night.

The new secretary would serve as the president's chief deputy on all matters of foreign policy and head up a reorganized State Department.

The Brookings Institution, a Washington research organization, said the move would help the United States meet the heavy responsibilities facing it at a critical phase in its history.

The recommendations would pattern the State Department somewhat along the lines of the Defense Department by creating three new secretaries to serve under the senior secretary.

In a study made for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the research group proposed setting up within a new department of foreign affairs three component departments. Each would be headed by a secretary of cabinet rank, to be known as the department of state, the department for foreign economic operations and the department of information and cultural affairs.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said the report was obtained to provide raw material for future committee hearings. He said it does not necessarily reflect the views of any committee member.

Fox Hunt Called Off When Hounds Get Hay Fever

NORTH BUCKINGHAMSHIRE, England (UPI)—A spokesman for the Whaddon Chase hunt said Tuesday its fox hunting had to be postponed because the hounds had developed hay fever.

"The hounds can't smell a bone, let alone a fox," he explained.

Relatives said Grace had built 350 houses of prayer in the last 30 years. He also acquired many other properties in major cities, including the Grace hotel-apartments and a $450,000 85-room mansion in Los Angeles.

His periodic visits to these cities were occasions for rejoicing among his enthusiastic communicants. They showered him with dollar bills, scattered roses in his path and fanned him with palm leaves. Commodities, even toothpaste, in packages bearing his name enjoyed widespread sales.

In Charlotte, N.C., where Daddy Grace has a congregation of more than 13,000, the church cafeteria offers Grace coffee from his own Brazilian plantation and eggs from his hatchery near Havana, Cuba. A beauty parlor at the church sells Grace cold cream.

Daddy Grace founded his church in Charlotte in 1926, baptizing new members in a mudhole.

Eisenhower To Ask Postal Rate Increase

Congress Turned Down 5-Cent Stamp Request Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower again will ask Congress to increase postal rates—a request that was turned down last year, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said Tuesday.

Halleck, the Republican House leader, did not say in talking to reporters how much of an increase would be requested or give any other details.

One high official, who declined to be quoted by name, said earlier that the proposed boosts would total 500 million dollars a year.

Rates Boosted In 1958
Last year's rejected request would have brought in an estimated extra 355 million dollars. The proposal would have boosted postage on a first-class letter to five cents, and on air mail to eight cents.

Postal rates went up on Aug. 1, 1958—first-class letters to four cents an ounce and air mail to seven. Since then, the Post Office says there have been increases in salary and retirement payments for postal workers and in transportation costs.

Halleck made his statement after he and other GOP congressional leaders were given a preview at the White House of Eisenhower's budget for the next fiscal year that starts July 1.

Stans Presents Preview
Budget Director Maurice Stans presented the preview at Eisenhower's meeting with the group.

Aside from the general postal rate increase that was turned down last year, Congress did approve a bill raising postal rates on third-class matter of odd size and shape by half a cent to 3 1/2 cents. Postal officials called this an inconsequential change in revenue.

And on Feb. 1 this year, parcel post rates will be boosted an average of 17.1 per cent and bring in an extra 88 million dollars a year. This rate, however, is controlled by the Interstate Commerce Commission rather than by Congress.

Federal Jury Decision Hinted In Lynch Probe

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The federal grand jury investigating the Mack Charles Parker lynch case apparently reached some decision Tuesday.

Several persons subpoenaed to appear were discharged without testifying. Word was sent to the rest of the witnesses, subpoenaed to appear Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, that they would not have to answer the subpoenas.

The witnesses left Tuesday afternoon and one stated he had been instructed to tell some others in Poplarville not to come to Biloxi for the grand jury appearance. Poplarville is about 50 miles from Biloxi.

About an hour later the jury recessed for the day. It is scheduled to return Wednesday morning.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Robert Hauberg of Jackson and U.S. Dist. Judge Signey Mize declined to comment on the development.

The grand jury has spent more than a week inquiring into the circumstances of the death of Parker, 22. He was dragged from the Pearl River County Jail at Poplarville by a hooded band of men last April, two days before his scheduled trial on a charge of raping a pregnant white mother. Parker's bullet-pierced body was later recovered from the Pearl River.

Seven Die In Head-On Automobile Collision

OIL CITY, La. (UPI)—Seven persons were killed Tuesday in a head-on collision on a straight stretch of road near here.

The victims were identified as Mack Taylor, C. L. O'Donald, Fletcher Lee, Jessie M. Thompson and Clara Milam, all of Vivian, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Evans of Jefferson, Tex., both Negroes.

Caddo Parish Deputy Paul Baker said witnesses reported the station wagon carrying the white victims was "weaving all over the road."

Ike To Air Space Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House said Tuesday that President Eisenhower will send Congress this week a plan for reorganizing the nation's space effort.

Tickets For Mr. Sam

House Speaker Sam Rayburn receives a string of 10 tickets for the Democratic Party's 1960 presidential campaign kickoff dinner from Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of a Louisiana congressman. At about the same time yesterday, Rayburn announced that he does not choose to be chairman of the Democratic national convention. Rep. Boggs has been mentioned in congressional circles as a likely choice for the chairmanship. The kickoff dinner will be held in Washington Jan. 23. (AP Photofax)

Rayburn Gives Up Convention Chairmanship

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) bowed out Tuesday from his traditional role as chairman of the Democratic National Convention.

His action, in the form of a "do not choose" announcement, appeared to have put in high gear a drive to land the party's presidential nomination for Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Rayburn told his news conference he has "a great desire to see one convention from the floor." He said he will not accept the post of convention chairman he filled in 1948, 1952 and 1956.

"When you are tied to that chairmanship up there," Rayburn said, "you see the convention from the front. I'd like to see it from both sides."

Rayburn added significantly that as a floor delegate he would have a better chance "to work for the candidate of my choice." He has announced his support of Johnson as a Texas favorite son candidate who, he said, would have wide appeal in other areas.

Johnson has said he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination but would take a look at the situation if the convention at Los Angeles next July seemed to want him.

Rayburn's action was interpreted, however, as confirming the growing indications that Johnson considers himself a serious contender and not just a holding candidate who might be influential in the naming of another as a nominee.

With Texas' 61 convention votes as a nucleus, Johnson's friends are busy trying to build a formidable bloc of support in Southern and Western states.

Rayburn's decision to step aside leaves the choice of the chairmanship of the party's Los Angeles convention largely in the hands of National Chairman Paul M. Butler. Technically, the choice is made by the national committee subject to convention approval.

Government Reports Asian Flu Outbreak

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government said Tuesday it had received reports of influenza outbreaks in nine states. It said the disease apparently is relatively mild.

Laboratory tests have shown the disease to be Asian flu in Ohio, Michigan, Texas and Hawaii. The same may apply to outbreaks in Tennessee, Kentucky, California, Nevada and Utah.

Acting Surgeon General John D. Porterfield said he felt the disease would be confined to "localized outbreaks" and would not compare to the 1958 Asian flu epidemic.

Large numbers of patients have been hospitalized in Fresno, Calif., and schools have been closed in Perry County, Tenn., to counter "an explosive outbreak," the Public Health Service said.

China Red Pilot Crash-Lands On Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Red Chinese MIG jet fighter crash-landed Tuesday on this Nationalist island stronghold under mysterious circumstances.

There were reports the pilot was killed, and that he was badly injured, that he had fled from the mainland to escape Red rule. Nationalist and U.S. sources agreed the pilot was seeking asylum.

The story he was seeking asylum gave a boost to Nationalist proclamations that Communist morale is at a low ebb. Newspapers published extras.

The plane landed at an emergency airstrip 40 miles from Taipei near Yilan in northeast Formosa, the Defense Ministry said.

Allied Economic Aid Unit Urged

PARIS (AP)—The United States proposed Tuesday formation of an economic organization by the Western Allies to coordinate aid to underdeveloped nations.

U.S. Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon said the organization would include 20 nations and would be a successor to the Organization for European Economic Cooperation.

Dillon made the proposals in a speech before a 13-nation economic conference called to deal with the questions of European trade competition and aid to underdeveloped nations. His speech left the details of the organization to be worked out by a study group the Paris conference is expected to appoint.

However, informed sources said the American proposal would retain some of the organizations of the OEEC, such as the European Monetary Fund, and would be aimed at coordinating Western economic aid rather than intra-European trade policies.

Freezing Rain Glazes Roads Over Wide Area

By The Associated Press
Moist air from the Gulf carried June-in-January warmth into the nation's midsection Tuesday and doused some sections with record midwinter rainfall.

Freezing rain glazed highways in some Northern areas and forced the closing of hundreds of rural schools in Michigan.

A sheath of ice a quarter inch thick covered roads in Michigan's upper peninsula. Thousands of Detroiters left their cars home and crowded into commuter trains, causing some disruption in schedules.

The ice storm moved eastward during the day and warnings of hazardous driving conditions were issued for most of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, northeastern Maryland, northern Delaware, Connecticut, Rhode Island,

Nevil Shute, 60, British Author, Dies Of Stroke

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—British novelist Nevil Shute died of a stroke Tuesday in Melbourne, the city he pictured in "On the Beach" as a scene in mankind's final destruction from cobalt radiation of World War III. He was 60.

Shute had suffered a series of heart attacks. These caused him to give up yachting, motor racing and flying even while he went on quietly writing best sellers and looking after the livestock on his farm overlooking the sea.

The author, whose real name was Nevil Shute Norway, was stricken on the farm, at Langwarrig, at 1:30 p. m. Rushed the 29 miles to Melbourne, he lapsed into a coma at the hospital and died at 8:30 p. m.

His death came less than a month after the simultaneous world premiere in more than a dozen cities of the film version of "On the Beach," his most successful work.

Shute did not like the movie, produced by Stanley Kramer. He refused to attend the Melbourne premiere because he considered Kramer had misused the right to make alterations in the script.

The message of both the film and the book, however, was the same: Humanity dying out, by radiation sickness or suicide, in the wake of a short war in 1962 that quickly poisoned all the northern hemisphere and then drifted its lethal clouds across the equator toward Antarctica.

Most of his novels, from "Marazan" in 1926 to "On the Beach," published in 1957, were keyed either to events of the day or to fictional forecasts concerning the future. Among his others, "The Far Country" also was made into a movie.

Senate Demos Rebuff Gore's Liberals, 51-12

Majority Leader's Current Policy Powers Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats gave Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas a 51-12 vote of confidence Tuesday night.

By that majority the Democratic senators rejected a motion by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), to strip Johnson of his authority to appoint members of the party's policy committee.

Gore also included in his motion a provision to enlarge the nine-member Senate Democratic Policy Committee.

He also proposed that the policy committee be directed to form legislative policies to be submitted to the conference of all 65 Democratic senators.

Support for the Gore proposal came from members of the party who generally list themselves as liberals. The voting took place at a caucus behind closed doors.

Augurs Well For Party
Gore told newsmen that "though we lost this time, we may have won in seeming to lose."

"The whole fight augurs well for our party," he said, adding that he was gratified the conference had given 2 1/2 hours of concentrated attention to party policy and procedures.

Asked if he believed the outcome would enhance Johnson's presidential chances, Gore said he hoped it would not make any difference to anyone's presidential ambitions.

Those voting for the Gore motion included Gore and Sens. John Carroll of Colorado, Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Paul Douglas of Illinois, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Pat McNamara of Michigan, A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, Wayne Morse of Oregon, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Ralph Yarborough of Texas.

Humphrey Votes By Proxy
The vote of Humphrey, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was cast by proxy. Morse, who has authorized the entry of his name in at least two presidential preference primaries, was present.

Johnson won the support of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, an avowed candidate for the party presidential nomination.

Douglas, who led a move for more frequent Democratic caucuses, told reporters after the session broke up: "It is apparent that a majority of the senators are not yet ready for political self government but prefer to stay in a state of political colonialism."

Douglas and others had protested that Johnson exercises one-man control over legislation to be brought before the Senate.

Kidnap Suspect Seized By FBI

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI Tuesday arrested William Charles Sullivan at his Bronx home on charges of kidnaping a young mother and her two children in Falls Church, Va., last Thursday.

Sullivan was sought on federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the alleged kidnaping of Mrs. L. R. Stierman, 24, of Falls Church.

As the FBI recounted the incident, Sullivan, 31, posed as a food freezer plant salesman to get into Mrs. Stierman's home. At gun point he demanded money from her, tied and gagged her and locked her in a closet while ransacking the residence.

Then, Sullivan allegedly forced Mrs. Stierman to drive him to a Falls Church bank. To pressure her to withdraw money from her account, the FBI said, Sullivan took along Mrs. Stierman's two daughters, Karen, 9 weeks, and Elizabeth, 3.

"In a parking lot next to the bank," the FBI said, "Mrs. Stierman bravely grabbed her 9-week-old daughter from the arms of Sullivan and started screaming. Sullivan fled on foot."

First Soviet A-Sub?

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—Russia has launched its first nuclear-powered submarine and put it in operation in the Baltic Sea, according to an internationally recognized Swedish shipping manual published here Tuesday night.

The Swedish Marine Calendar, in its edition for 1960, also said a second Soviet atomic sub is under construction and four more are in the planning stage.

Mitchell Denies Steel Pact Inflationary

Labor Secretary Helps Dedicate New DES Building At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretary James P. Mitchell said Tuesday the recent steel wage settlement wasn't inflationary and was "voluntarily accepted" by both management and the United Steel Workers Union. "It was circumstances that convinced the companies and the union that now is the time to settle," Mitchell told a news conference of "hasty legislation which might be harmful to both labor and management."

Mitchell came here to help dedicate a new State Employment Security office Building. He said Roger Blough, U. S. Steel board chairman, has said the settlement would mean an average annual increase in hourly employment costs will be 3.5 to 3.75 per cent.

This, Mitchell said, is below other wage settlements reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for last year.

"There was no new wage pattern established here," Mitchell added.

In his address at the building dedication, Mitchell predicted a new era of employment practices. He said employers will have to change their personnel hiring policies to meet the demand for trained workers.

Workers will need greater skill, education and ability to keep abreast of the times, he said.

"In the future it looks as though the number of unskilled jobs will diminish," Mitchell said.

In answering questions about his political aspirations, Mitchell said, "I have a full-time job as secretary of labor and am not a candidate for any office." He has been mentioned as a possible aspirant for the Republican nomination for vice president.

Mitchell and Gov. Tawes delivered the principal addresses at the dedication services attended by federal, state and city officials.

Tawes said that "perhaps never before in the 22 year history of the payment of . . . benefits in Maryland has the program been of more value to the community" than in 1958.

"It may be said without exaggeration that the employment security program is in the largest measure responsible for the strong recovery we have made . . .," he added.

He noted that during 1958 unemployed Marylanders received about $72,500,000 in benefits.

The new five-million-dollar office structure is the third and last State building planned in the Mount Royal Plaza redevelopment area. The six-story unit will house the department's 800 Baltimore employees under one roof for the first time in the agency's history.

It was completed early in December after more than a year of construction.

Other speakers at the dedication were DES Executive Director Robert B. Kimble, former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, former Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro and Baltimore City Council President Philip Goodman, representing Mayor J. Harold Grady.

Aiken Satisfied Nixon Against Steel Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken (R - Vt.), said Tuesday he is satisfied Vice President Richard M. Nixon "agrees with me that no steel price rise is warranted this year."

"In fact, I know he does," Aiken told newsmen after meeting with Nixon in the vice president's office at the Capitol.

Nixon has been credited in some quarters with bringing the warring Steelworkers Union and 11 steel companies to terms last week, ending the threat of a new walkout. He entertained the rival steel negotiators at dinner in his home Monday night.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler charged last Thursday that Nixon got steel industry executives to agree secretly to hold off price boosts until after the fall election in which Nixon is virtually certain to be the Republican presidential candidate. A spokesman for Nixon dismissed the Butler charges as totally absurd.

Talking with reporters, Aiken said Nixon "already has got some of the more conservative elements of the party sore over the steel strike settlement, but he has made many friends."

Later, Nixon spent 30 minutes with the Senate Republican Policy Committee and used part of the time briefing its members on the steel settlement.

The steel matter also came up for discussion at the White House where President Eisenhower conferred with Republican congressional leaders.

Hospital Mediation Conference Today

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Mayor Russell Smith Tuesday summoned representatives of the warring directors and staff doctors of the Cambridge-Maryland Hospital to meet with him and the county commissioners Wednesday to try to loosen the noose strangling the community's medical haven.

Both the board of directors and the staff physicians agreed to send four men to meet with the three county commissioners and Smith — meaning the public as a third party would be equally represented — to mediate the long-standing dispute that has resulted in a doctors' boycott of the 60-year-old hospital.

Smith, a dentist, originally was one of the complaining doctors who filed court proceedings against the directors. Recently, however, he has stayed out of the fracas, saying his responsibility as mayor is greater than any he might feel toward the physicians.

The directors and doctors, who have been warring openly for months over how the hospital is to be run, agreed Monday night to send delegations to a mediation conference after the directors re-approved applications of all 14 staff doctors to practice at the hospital for another year.

The reinstatement is an annual routine. Normally such action is automatic.

Monday night, however, some of the directors wanted to tack on a stipulation that the doctors must agree to resume normal practice at the hospital and call off their blockade.

The doctors set up their boycott a month ago after the chief of surgeons, Dr. John Mace, was suspended indefinitely by the board. The directors gave no reason for their action, and said they would give none. It was not ethical, they said, under recognized hospital management rules.

But the majority of the directors favored reinstating all the doctors. However, while reinstating Dr. Mace, they continued him under suspension.

Many of the townspeople, aware that the directors could have ground the issue to a sharper hone but purposely didn't, feel that their reinstatement of all doctors — even though they still are boycotting the hospital — was a move toward eventual mediation and settlement.

The 15,000 or so residents plainly are concerned. They know the hospital is losing about $500 a day because of the doctors' boycott and that their medical plant cannot continue to operate at that level.

Mrs. Finch With Investigator Night Of Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tennis-loving socialite Barbara Jean Finch was out with a tennis-playing private investigator the night she was shot to death at her luxurious home.

This testimony came Tuesday from her attorney. He also said Mrs. Finch told him she knew her wealthy doctor husband was going to kill her and how, and that he twice had struck her with a pistol.

Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and his shapely paramour, Carole Tregoff, 23, are on trial charged with murdering Mrs. Finch.

The prosecution charges the two plotted to kill her so it would look like an accident, that Dr. Finch ambushed her in the garage of the Finch estate in suburban West Covina when she returned the night of July 18 and, after a bloody struggle, shot her in the back as she fled.

Another witness, Clifford C. Cromp, chemist from the sheriff's crime laboratory, said the shot was fired from only two to four feet away. He said he determined this from powder burns on the back of her white cocktail dress.

A pretty, young schoolteacher, Mrs. Marica Helfrich, testified Mrs. Finch came to stay with her twice. She said Mrs. Finch was afraid of her husband "because he had beaten her up and she was afraid he'd do it again."

Star witness at the morning session was Joseph T. Forno, who represented Mrs. Finch in her divorce action.

The identity of Mrs. Finch's escort on the night she was slain came out during cross-examination of Forno, a prosecution witness. He was asked if he knew that Herbert S. Adair was with her the night of July 18.

"Yes," he said, "that is my information."

He said Adair — dark-eyed, athletic and in his early 30s — is a law student who works as an investigator in his office. Forno said Adair sometimes served as bodyguard for Mrs. Finch and also gathered evidence for her divorce action.

NASA Scientists Test Ion Engine

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration laboratory here are testing an ion engine—a new source of space propulsion with tremendous potential.

"We have built models of an ion engine that could lift rocket ships six times easier than is now possible," said Howard J. Childs, chief of the electric propulsion branch. "It can propel rockets easily at speeds well over 100,000 m.p.h."

The model, which has no working parts, recently ran for 50 hours in tests at the Lewis research lab. According to Childs, the ion rocket engine now is out of the realm of the "possible" and into the sphere of the "very probable."

"Man has dreamed of harnessing a system like the ion engine for more than 100 years," Childs said Tuesday, "but it wasn't until NASA put 18 scientists into a year-long research program that most of the kinks were ironed out."

"We still have problems to overcome before the engine will be operational, but we regard them as being purely engineering problems. The basic research is nearly over."

Aged Multimillionaire Collapses In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Multimillionaire Arthur Vining Davis, 92, fainted Tuesday in a barber's chair but was revived and his physician said there were no apparent ill effects.

The doctor said Davis regained consciousness after about 10 minutes. He said the wiry little south Florida developer, former board chairman of the Aluminum Corp. of America, would be taken home for rest and observation.

H. R. O'Connor Jr. Enters Seventh District Race

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Herbert R. O'Connor Jr., son of the former governor and U. S. Senator, Tuesday took his first plunge into Maryland's political waters with an encouraging pat on the back from his dad.

The 37-year-old Baltimore attorney filed for Democratic nomination to Congress from Baltimore's 7th Congressional District.

He became the fifth candidate for the seat which Democrat Samuel N. Friedel has held since the curving, sprawling district was carved from the outer rim of the city after the 1950 census.

Friedel is a candidate for re-nomination. Others who have filed include Del. Maurice Cardin of the city's 5th Legislative District, Morris Dvoskin and John Francis Nee. There have been indications some others also might enter the May 17th Democratic fight with Friedel.

O'Connor, who lives in the populous 3rd Legislative District, is expected to draw much of his support from that area of North Baltimore. He announced though that his campaign "will not aim at obtaining the support of any one group or groups. It will seek to attract all of the electorate."

The tall, bespectacled young attorney was accompanied by his father, his wife, and his 11-year-old son, Herbert R. O'Connor III, who got out of classes in the sixth grade at Mount Washington Country School for the occasion.

They looked on proudly as he filled out his application and posted a $100 filing fee with Secretary of State Thomas B. Finan.

Herbert Jr. was an assistant city solicitor in Baltimore in 1957-58.

He was counsel to the Civic Center Commission of Baltimore, is a past president of the city's Junior Association of Commerce and a past president of the Advocate Club. He is chairman of the Maryland Region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and a member of the Area Executive Council of the Boy Scouts.

A 1943 graduate of Loyola College, young O'Connor served in the Army during World War II and received his law degree from The University of Maryland in 1959. He has been associated with his father in the practice of law since then.

State Real Estate Brokers Warned

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Real Estate Commission warned brokers Tuesday it is illegal to attract homebuyers by offering free gifts, cash or prizes.

A commission spokesman said violation of the law could lead to suspension or revocation of a broker's license.

The warning was issued after two alleged abuses of the law were called to the attention of the commission.

Clevenger Files

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Clifton L. Clevenger, a Hyattsville contractor, Tuesday became the fourth Republican to file for Congress from Maryland's Fifth District.

Finan (right), of Cumberland, as he filed in Annapolis yesterday for Democratic nomination to Congress from Baltimore's 7th District. Looking on from left are his wife, his 11-year-old son, Herbert R. III, and his father, who served as Maryland attorney general, two terms as governor (1939-46) and one as U. S. senator (1947-52). Red, white and blue streamers decorated the hall.

Other officers serving with Mrs. Wilson are Mrs. Margaret Greise, vice president; Mrs. Nancy Growden, secretary; Mrs. Anna Lee Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. Inez Sweitzer, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Barbara Garland, new trustee.

The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Thomas Lewis at 1 p. m. in the home of Mrs. G. Overton Himmelwright, 25 Long Drive. Mrs. Benedict Skitarelle is program chairman.

Principals Association To Compile Handbook

A committee to compile the first handbook for principals in Allegany County was appointed by Miss Myra Nefflin at the dinner meeting Monday evening at Moon's Dining Room. Paul Arbogast was named chairman and discussed the format. The committee serving with him includes Earl Brain, Mrs. Sue Dawson, Miss Alice McCormick, Miss Bernice Winner, Miss Mary Straw, Miss Grace Filer and Miss Nefflin.

The professional meeting to be held in St. Louis in April was discussed. It will be decided whether to send a delegate, at the March 7 meeting, which will be under the chairmanship of Miss Agnes Lauder.

John Copeland, a case worker of the State of Maryland Department of Education, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, serving Allegany and Garrett counties, was guest speaker. Explaining that the program was started after World War I and his office is at 111 Union Street, Mr. Copeland said it is to help any resident of Maryland, not necessarily a veteran, with a physical disability, to secure employment. Physical aids, like braces, artificial limbs, hearing aids and glasses are supplied; and vocational training is given to anyone needing skill for a job. The speaker explained that he has a case load of 250 and that 50 to 60 people are rehabilitated each year.

Counsel and advice are also given to anyone over 16 years of age to help him pick the right kind of job. Mr. Copeland pointed out. He said the applicant must have referrals and examinations; and that board, room, travel expenses, training supplies and equipment needed during the training period are supplied.

Miss Imogene Caudill offered the invocation. Hubert Radcliffe was chairman for the evening. His committee included Miss Hazel Inskeep, John Manley, Miss Nellie Powell, Miss Winner and Miss Caudill.

Mrs. Eva Reynolds, 612 Woodlawn Terrace, is a medical patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—High interest rates, with good bonds bringing greater return than stocks, are causing the stock market to go down, in the opinion of analysts.

The market declined again Monday for the fourth consecutive trading day.

A host of other factors are contributing to the market's poor showing, according to Wall Street observers.

"The main impetus behind the heavy selling of blue chip stocks is the higher interest rate," said Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co.

He pointed out that a 90-million-dollar issue of bonds of the Power Authority of the State of New York will come out Tuesday with an interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent, a new high in the tax exempt category.

"There was some evidence of shifting among important equity holders" from stocks in order to be prepared to invest in the bonds, he said.

Granville also called attention to a 5 per cent decline on the Paris Bourse and the raise in the discount rate to 5 per cent by the Central Bank of the Belgian Congo.

The decline "is not over by a long shot," he added.

"I was not surprised," said Lester Wyetznor of Bache & Co. of Monday's market.

He mentioned that the market had gone through one day of sharp rally at the year's end and then reversed and went down.

"Lots of people still have stock for sale," he said. "Fear of discount rates is a major factor in the drop."

EMBATTLED HOSPITAL—The lack of activity at the Cambridge-Maryland Hospital gives mute testimony to the feud between doctors and directors that has divided the town of Cambridge, Md., and resulted in a doctors' boycott of the hospital for all but emergency cases. Joint Underground A-Tests Proposed WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) proposed Monday the United States, Russia and Britain conduct their underground nuclear tests jointly if they are unable to agree on a test ban.

Such a move might break the deadlock in current disarmament talks at Geneva and lead eventually to a nationwide ban on nuclear testing, Church told the Senate.

"Of one thing I am sure," he added. "The United States cannot pack up its bags and go home (from Geneva) without first exhausting all possibilities for agreement. We must be certain that if failure comes, the guilt must rest with the Soviet Union."

Births during the Mayflower's historic voyage in 1629 raised the total passenger list from 102 to 104.

"Whereas"

Nobody Gets Petitioned More Than Congress

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—No other nation is as quick with the petition as this one.

Get three of us together. At the drop of a whereas, we'll fire off a petition, asking for better street light, insisting on more frequent garbage collections, demanding that Congress quit horsing around and pass some decent laws.

Nobody gets petitioned more than Congress. As it begins its first full week, already it has a splendid heap of petitions to nibble at. It takes nine pages, most of them in fine print, simply to list them in the Congressional Record.

Wherever we take what we laughingly call our civilization, we take our love of the petition.

From far-off Saipan, for example, comes this plea:

"Whereas prior to the Spanish-American War, the indigenous inhabitants of the Marianas Islands were all joined together both politically and geographically, all of one race, known as Chamorros, spoke a common language and observed the same religious and social customs, and

"Whereas prior to the Spanish-American War, the Island of Guam served as the capital of the Marianas, and"

The petition goes on for about a page, and the message is plain: After all these years and wars, the Chamorros would like to see the Marianas reunited again.

Most of the petitions, of course, come from home.

The town board of Geddes, S.D., wants no hanky-panky with municipal bonds. It tells Congress these bonds should continue to be tax exempt.

In Rhode Island, the General Assembly says that this nation has more than 39 million Roman Catholics, or about 22 per cent of the population. And it's high time, Rhode Island says, to have diplomatic relations with the Vatican. But an individual can protest, too.

So B. P. Wisotschin, captain-commander, Order of Former Russian Military, Inc., of Philadelphia, objects to the visit of Nikita Khrushchev. And E. Koopman of Newburgh, N.Y., is "remonstrating against recent decisions of the Supreme Court."

This right to protest, of course, is important and cherished. "Congress shall make no law," the Constitution says, respecting the right of the people to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

But a conscientious congressman, plowing through the protests and remonstrances, must be pleased when he runs across this:

"A petition, signed by Janet R. Landgraf, and sundry other students of the McKinley High School, Honolulu, Hawaii, expressing appreciation to the Congress for its support of statehood for Hawaii."

Firemen Battle Blaze, Raccoon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Roger, a raccoon, gave fireman almost as much trouble as the fire in a suburban home.

Roger had been living in the attic of Miss Elizabeth Lowmsbury's home for a long while. At first he was mistaken for a burglar. Police came. In time they spotted Roger, who with spiteful eye dared them to evict him. Miss Lowmsbury finally had to settle for coexistence.

Then came the fire of undetermined origin and causing fire department-estimated damages of $25,000 Sunday.

Roger took refuge at the base of a chimney. A fireman climbing onto the sloping roof was all but knocked off by the 40-pound Roger. Soon other firemen were aiming their hoses in turn at the burning shingles and Roger.

Roger ran again and again at the firemen, making it harder than ever to keep their footing. A crowd cheered firemen and raccoon impartially.

Finally Roger shinned down a drain pipe and headed for a nearby patch of woods. He hasn't been seen since.

Castro Down To 200

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro weighed in Monday for the year's first television appearance at just over 200 pounds, a sharp drop from his year-end weight. He told questioners he shed 15 pounds while leading detachments from Havana University's student militia over steep Oriente mountain trails.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sportswear for spring stresses the feminine line.

But designers give a woman plenty of leeway to combine trends, colors and textures.

Sportswear included in collections shown this week by the New York Couture group to visiting reporters features a soft and easy, and often, bloused top.

Neck interest stems from the bateau and stay-away-from-the-throat lines, extended collars, cape and wing sleeves.

Soft are the blouses; softer, the sleeves puffing above French cuffs. The casual cincher: a tightly belted waist — be it on jacket, skirt or shirt.

Below the waist, the sporty and casual skirt states its gentle case through bias cuts, flares, unpressed pleats. Occasionally, there is fullness, centered or sidelined.

Front — runner topping for the casual blouse and skirt is the short cropped jacket, with or without buttons. Jacket sleeves are set at a natural angle, sans padding.

Tunics, loose or fitted or belted with or without sleeves, also top skirts, slim pants or tailored shorts.

The haberdasher influences makes itself felt in weskits, vented jackets, blazers, tailored pants and details of well pockets and French seams.

Sporting colors saunter in the neutral range. Beiges start out bone, turn to oatmeal, become gaupe and wind up brown.

Textures for casuals are smooth sounding out in baby cords, gabardines and soft flannel.

Highlights of collections shown Tuesday along high fashion's Main Street:

—Edward Abbott: Slim dresses moulded through the midriff from under flaring and cape - version sleeves, shoulder-extending necklines and collars. For after dark, the top attraction is the cut-out or open-secret necklines — each perfected with its own built-in bra.

—Marquise: Stresses fabrics from all parts of the world. They are light in weight for the American woman who "adores fashion but not at the expense of comfort." This collection thrusts the costume-little jacket over dress — to the top rung of fashion's ladder.

—Patullo Jo Copeland: Flags

down the waistline. The signal occurs most often in the dresses of jacketed costumes. In one a ribbon is slotted through the hip yoke, repeated near the jacket hem. In another, a row of silver-dollar size white buttons about the hips seems to anchor bodice to skirt.

—Rudolf Gowns: Sorcery in sleeves includes deep cape collars or cape bodices sometimes taking over for sleeves. The overall news of this collection is more long sleeves.

change in flattery. There's more white — sometimes in necklines cuffed-and-piped or trimmed with white.

—Harvey Berin: The "coquette silhouette" consists of a wide flaring overskirt slanting from above the knee at the front to the upper calf at the back. Beneath is a lace tulle or cotton skirt.

—Junior sophisticates: More sophisticated than junior. No. 1 in the collection is the shirtwaist dress, wrapped as well as petting over for sleeves. The overall news of this collection is more long sleeves.

Residents Offer Opinions On City Traffic Program

A number of recommendations for improving the flow of traffic on the city's streets were read at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

One letter by Dr. R. Rhett Rathbone, advised the purchase of the former residence of the late Dr. Thomas Koon, and opening a thoroughfare through to Baltimore Street, thus by-passing the existing "bottleneck" at Central YMCA.

Pointing out that he was familiar with the situation because of passing the four-street intersection while traveling to Memorial Hospital, Dr. Rathbone said if his suggestion was adopted the city would have two streets available for north-south bound traffic.

The balance of the doctor's recommendation asked for the widening of Altamont Terrace and restriction of parking to one side of the street.

Police Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming at this point informed Council the Traffic Bureau was formulating a plan for the control of traffic at the intersection. In his opinion, the commissioner said, the bureau plan is "workable" and at least worth a try. The plan which will be put into effect within the near future will include the use of "islands," such as have proved helpful at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and North Mechanic Street.

Council recommended that Dr. Rathbone's letter be acknowledged and kept on file for possible consideration if the Police Department plan does not work out.

In another letter, Jerry Morton, Baltimore Street businessman, suggested that Harrison Street be made two-way between South Mechanic and Centre streets.

Morton explained that such action would relieve some of the traffic pressure on Baltimore Street since motorists would not have to drive that far to get in a southbound traffic lane. Council also recommended that Morton's letter be acknowledged and filed for consideration.

Another letter to Council brought to light that a potentially serious hazard exists in North Cumberland from large motor vehicles traveling to the Allegany Instrument Company plant on Wills Mountain.

Lawrence I. Matt, 804 Maplewood Lane, informed Council that lives and property have been endangered several times recently when large vehicles were unable to negotiate the steep incline and sharp curves leading to the plant.

Just last week, Matt's letter stated, a large vehicle was unable to complete the journey to the top of the road and skidded onto lawns on Maplewood Lane while backing down the road.

Members of the Council were unanimous that something should be worked out to protect the property and lives of residents of the area, but also agreed that nothing should be done to "hand-cuff" the instrument firm since it was a vigorous and expanding industry and a preferred adjunct to the business life of the city.

Also read and entered into the minutes of the meeting was a copy of a letter from City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum to Gerard T. Martin, 13 Blackiston Avenue.

In the letter, Nuzum explained several items pertaining to proposed work on the avenue, particularly the relocation of utilities and how streets are qualified for participation in state or federal aid programs.

Board Given Cash Status Of County

A report on the cash position of Allegany County was presented to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by James E. Bishop, county treasurer.

Bishop noted that as of November 30, 1959 the county had $692,947.68 in local banks and there were receipts of $236,560.56. This made a total of $929,508.26.

Disbursements up to December 31, 1959 totaled $523,612.55 leaving a cash balance of $405,895.69 as of December 31, 1959. In the meantime, the county had $1,079,021.16 invested in U. S. Treasury notes.

The county withdraws the U. S. Treasury notes on a monthly basis, receiving dividends for their investment. The monthly withdrawals are made to take care of commitments and pay various county expenses.

In connection with the financial report, Commissioner John J. Rowan, board president, stated that no statements on county financial matters should be released unless it has been approved by County Commissioner John T. Mason, who has jurisdiction over county finances.

Rowan said he was referring to a newspaper article which had been given out by department heads this week concerning the voters in each district and the assessed value of property. Rowan said this should have been discussed with Commissioner Mason. Commissioner Mason said that records at the Court House are public and open to anyone. Rowan said he understands that, but the various department heads of the county should not give out material for articles without the commissioners knowing about the matter. This is a matter of policy on the part of the board, Rowan pointed out.

Crossing In Mexico Farms Sector Termed Hazardous

A group of residents of the Mexico Farms section appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to protest the hazardous condition of a grade crossing of the B&O Railroad in that area.

Edward Shank spokesman for the group said a school bus which uses the crossing has to pass over 11 tracks, four of which are main line tracks.

It was explained to the board that there are no lights or crossing watchmen and it has been the practice for two youths, about 16 years of age, to get out of the bus and go to the crossing to see if any trains are approaching. The way is clear they wave the bus on, it was stated.

The crossing itself is in a bad state of repair, the protestors said, and a vehicle can move only at a very slow speed due to the bumpy condition of the route across the tracks. They also feel that using the two youths places a heavy responsibility on them for the safety of the other school children.

The tragic school bus mishap at a crossing at Mt. Lake Park in Garrett County last September in which seven children were killed was brought up. The Mexico Farms representatives said they feared an accident at the crossing would result in another tragedy similar to the Garrett County crash on a crossing.

Another factor in regard to the hazard was the speed at which trains pass that point, the group told the board. The commissioners said the matter should be taken up with officials of the

Doctor's Combination of Ingredients Stops Stomach Gas Before It Starts

Buffalo, N.Y. (Special)—Thousands of people who suffered for years from gas, stomach, heartburn, belching after meals and other symptoms of acid indigestion now report wonderful relief, thanks to a remarkable formula developed by a prominent doctor and known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Containing not just one or two, but a special combination of 7 ingredients, this famous medicine is designed to stop stomach gas before it even starts. Instead of upsetting the delicate acid-balance of the stomach, as too frequent use of soda and alkalis often does, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery actually promotes more normal stomach activity.

W.Va. Legislative Unit Reports On 'Inconsistent' School Board Pay

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Legislature approval of continuation for another year of the study work by various county school boards in West Virginia were pointed up Tuesday in a report of a legislative subcommittee.

The Joint Committee on Government and Finance, one of the West Virginia Legislature's standing committees, was told by a subcommittee that the pay by 10 counties to various employees was far out of line compared to others and should be asked to correct the situation.

A report was adopted by the standing committee asking for larger counties.

Hancock — Salaries paid utility men, secretaries, clerks, mechanics, janitors and bus drivers are considerably higher than other counties.

Kanawha — There was a 46.9 per cent increase in personal service expenditures from the 1957-58 school year to 1959-60 and a 17.5 per cent increase in personnel employed. It recommended an independent study of non-teaching lists in this county.

Logan — There was a 100 per cent increase in clerical help in the past year, a 150 per cent in utility men and a 26.2 per cent hike in all non-teaching personnel in the periods.

Marion — There was a 28.8 per cent increase in monthly expenditures this year over last year. It also has 20 persons employed as clerks, secretaries and stenographers and 39 persons as utility men and mechanics.

Mercer — The number of clerical employed jumped from nine to 20 with a corresponding hike in cost.

Ohio — A 71 per cent increase was reported in the number of clerical employees in the past two years.

Wayne — A 46.4 per cent increase in monthly expenditures was reported for non-teaching personnel.

Wood — It employs 46 persons as clerks or secretaries at a cost of $9,523 a month.

Wyoming — A 23.1 per cent increase was listed in the monthly expenditures for non-teaching personnel; janitorial salaries were higher than in most other while clerical assistants were at lower than average salaries than in other counties.

The "borderline" counties mentioned in the report include Berkeley, Boone, Braxton, Brooke, Calhoun, Doddridge, Fayette, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Harrison, Marshall, Mineral, Mingo, Monongalia, Monroe and McDowell.

State Agency Leases Space At Court House

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved a one-year lease for part of the third floor of the Court House to the State Department of Forests and Parks for $2,750.

This lease covers what eventually will be four rooms on the third floor. A partition was installed across the hallway to provide one additional room for District Forester William H. Johnson and his staff. Plans also call for another partition to divide the office which Mr. Johnson and his staff have been using.

The lease was dated for one year from July 1, 1959, at $687.50 a quarter. It covers about 1,045 square feet of space. The State Department of Forests and Parks also has the right to renew the lease for one year, if written notice is received not less than 30 days before the expiration of the first year of the lease.

A letter also was received by the commissioners yesterday from William Robinson, an official of Radio Station WKYR in Keyser. The letter put in writing Mr. Robinson's discussion of last week in which Mr. Robinson said the station would like to purchase or lease a 400-by-600 foot tract of the county farm property here.

Plans call for two towers to be erected on the property. Last Friday, Commissioner William A. Wilson inquired whether such an installation would affect television reception or the broadcasting of the two local radio stations. Mr. Robinson explained that the Federal Communications Commission would not allow any interference.

City Communes For Red China?

Chinese arriving in Hong Kong from Communist China are saying that Mao Tse-tung may be about ready to order establishment of communes in China's big cities during 1960. Similar plans aborted late in 1958 when widespread popular resistance developed in urban areas. Less effective was the resistance of peasants to the commune system.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party of China let it be known at that time, however, that the pace of the march toward communal living in the cities was being suspended only "until the skeptics are convinced." Whether these recalcitrants — the so-called "rightist-inclined opportunists"—now have been sufficiently softened up is a matter of conjecture.

Certainly no propaganda effort has been spared to sell the communes to the sophisticated and relatively well-educated city folk. Desirability of having communes in big cities has been a subject of Communist-led group discussion meetings among residents in Shanghai, and presumably other large cities, for a year or more.

Red China's rulers are convinced that negligence in promoting political-ideological work will weaken the economic front and interfere with Communism's "great leap forward." In Mao's eyes, the socialist transformation will not be complete until all Chinese are living under the tight party rule made possible by universal enlistment in the propertyless communes.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Need For Incentives

The President said in his State of the Union message:

"We are all relieved that a settlement has at last been achieved in that (steel) industry. Percentage-wise, by this settlement, the increase to the steel companies in employment costs is lower than in any prior wage settlement since World War II . . ."

This misses the most important factor in the defeat of management in this very peculiar strike. For the principal issue was not the increase in wages and fringe benefits. It was rather the question of work rules and the decision on that will be far-reaching and could, if not corrected, determine the character of American industry altogether.

This requires analysis:

1. By this settlement, not management but the labor unions decide the work rules of an industry; they decide the type of machinery to be used and the number of men to be employed. They have thus usurped management's function of efficiency of production.

2. It is possible by this means to outpace American production in all markets, including the American market, because by controlling work rules, the union leaders can reject all labor-saving devices and therefore prevent the modernization of obsolescent industries.

We can fall behind the entire world because in most countries, on account of the destruction during World War II and the aid to underdeveloped countries, most European and Asiatic plants and equipment are new and could be saving in the cost of production. More and more, American producers are becoming concerned about such competition and on account of it, American capital has been moving abroad where it can function in greater freedom and more profitably.

3. The reduction of the work force in this country can now be a serious social problem, more so than during the 1929 Depression. On the other hand, the elimination of good-workmanship and a high rate of production per employee can bring on a sharp depression because the cost of production will be too great.

The handling of such a difficult social problem cannot be left to labor leaders whose main task, in such a situation, is to keep high the membership of their union. The railroads, for instance, are reaching a point of recession from a period of stagnation. Lines are giving up their franchises; commuter business is being abandoned.

Nevertheless, the railroad workers will not budge an inch from their featherbedding practices. It would seem as though the leaders of those unions would prefer the railroads to go out of existence altogether rather than change work rules to meet new conditions.

This is true in many industries and represents a foolhardy approach to a serious problem. After all, the very persons who reject new processes in their own industries, go to the stores, now translated into consumers, and buy at the lowest prices, often even preferring imported goods at cheaper prices to American goods, the prices of which are determined by insistence upon maintaining costly work rules.

Perhaps this is human nature but it is a dangerous kind of nature at a time when our national economy is in a death-struggle with other economies which function differently.

If one wishes to study this problem sharply, he need only consider the import of foreign cars into the United States during the past three years. These cars are not better than American cars, but they come cheaper. They run as well. They consume less gasoline and grow increasingly popular because of the price factor and the lower cost of operation. The cars are also smaller, which may or may not be a real benefit. After waiting too long, the American manufacturers are going into the small car field in a big way, but meanwhile the European manufacturers got a head start.

Price is such a big factor in all prudent living that it can never be ignored. Price is made of the labor cost plus the material cost plus overhead plus sales cost plus taxes plus profit, if any. The largest item is the labor cost from mine and farm to the end sale of the manufactured goods. Price, however, finally controls sales and if our goods are outpriced, unless there is high tariff protection, our men will not work. But high tariff protection will bring retaliation in other markets.

This problem is so complex that it cannot be left to the member-seeking officials of labor unions.

'Hope I Can Keep Body And Soul Together'

Settlement Ended "Free Collective Bargaining"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Do labor and management really know what happened to "collective bargaining" in the steel strike "settlement"? Do they realize that "free collective bargaining," as the term has hitherto been used, is now a thing of the past? Are they aware that government dictation, based on political expediency, now has been substituted?

These questions are asked because the story of the way the steel strike was ended—through governmental pressure—has not yet been absorbed in its full significance by management or labor or the public.

The Administration, to be sure, didn't intend to favor one side over the other, but the course adopted in desperation by the President—anything to settle the strike—led to the trap in which the government officials found themselves. Principle went by the boards—and expediency ruled the hour. Now monopoly power in big unions is more solidly entrenched than ever.

A glance at the pronouncements made by Mr. Eisenhower in his press conferences beginning last summer shows how the President, perplexed by the most costly strike in history, gradually came to choose the easy way out—surrender to big unionism. Here are some significant excerpts:

July 15 — "I believe that we have got thoroughly to test out and to use the method of free bargaining, and the second that we try to bring the free bargaining—collective bargaining—about by pressure of government, that is too great, under the circumstances, then I believe it's not free."

August 12 — "Personally, I think, except for the use of the Federal Mediation Service, that until there is a national emergency discernible, a national requirement, a need for action, I couldn't think of anything more objectionable than to put the Federal government constantly in the business of settling these major strikes."

August 25—"I still insist that free bargaining means that these people must solve their own problems. I have urged all of them—both sides—not only in this strike but any other that is impending or even thought of, that negotiations must not contribute to inflation because here is a terrible enemy ready to pounce on us any time we get away."

September 17—"I have consistently stated I was not going to interfere in this strike, that it was a thing for free bargaining, and when the government got into it, we could get into all sorts of arguments of delay, and, I think, damaging effects upon the country, because soon people would be talking about the procedures that the government was applying, rather than the basic issues."

September 28—"Free collective bargaining—the logical recourse of a free people in settling industrial disputes—has apparently broken down. . . ."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

COATS—There was a time a few years ago when the wives of Republican politicians found it expedient to store their furs and appear publicly in prim, little cloth coats. This was in the era immediately following the Truman Administration's mink coat scandals.

In recent years, however, the fur pieces have been taken out of mothballs, and the mink coats and stoles have reappeared in profusion wherever the ladies congregate in the nation's capital.

However, mink is as high as most American ladies aspire in Washington. It took the wife of a Soviet diplomat to put mink, and mink-clad ladies in their place. At a recent diplomatic reception, a society reporter admired a fur-lined tweed jacket worn by the wife of a Russian official. "Isn't that Russian sable?" the lady reporter gushed.

"Oh, no," replied the wife of the representative of the Soviet proletariat, "it's just plain American mink."

"It is up to both sides, labor and management, to recognize the responsibility they owe to our nation and settle their differences reasonably and promptly. I shall use every conceivable personal and official influence available to me to break the impasse."

The Taft-Hartley 80-day injunction was requested from the courts on October 22 and was promptly granted. Here is what the President said on December 2 after work was resumed:

"I have tried to use every bit of influence I have had officially or personally in this matter to get these people together. . . . if we can't get anywhere on this thing, then finally the government just cannot sit idly on its hands. But, I do believe that the day we abandon free collective—honest free collective—bargaining, it is going to be a sad day for the United States."

The "sad day" has arrived. It arrived when, upon instructions from the President, pressure was applied for two weeks steadily by both the Vice President and the Secretary of Labor, and finally on January 4 a so-called "settlement" was announced. An article in the Washington Star Sunday says that the Federal Mediation Service is disappointed at the turn of events and that it was ready with a much more balanced offer to present to both sides, but apparently political considerations weighed heavily with the Administration and the regular mediating machinery was sidetracked. The Administration wanted and needed a "prosperity" slogan for the 1960 political campaign.

But what about 1961 and 1962 when the prices in most industries are raised to offset wage increases similar to those granted in steel? What about "free collective bargaining" in future years? Will big unions force a crisis each time and, by organized blackmail, compel the political administration in power to put pressure on management to accept a "settlement" pleasing to labor?

It was announced last week that no plan to deal legislatively with this problem will be presented by the Eisenhower Administration at the current session of Congress. This is the biggest surprise of all. Did the administration abandon its plan to ask Congress for new laws dealing with the strike problem, and was this one of the promises made in forcing both sides into the "settlement"? Will the Administration reverse itself and, responsive to an aroused public opinion, lay all the facts on the table, together with recommendations for a law forbidding the monopoly power of industry-wide bargaining? It's the only way now to restore "free collective bargaining."

Diabetes Need Not Handicap A Youngster

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Prior to the discovery of insulin, the diabetic child seldom lived more than a few weeks, months, or a year. The condition was regarded as fatal in much the same way as leukemia.

In contrast, now, juvenile diabetics usually grow and develop normally, do well in school, graduate with honors, and hold important positions in their communities. Many are brighter than average, possibly to compensate for the disability.

These youngsters need insulin and a special diet to survive. This may create a problem in the home, as it is difficult for the mother of a large family to prepare special meals for one child. The situation is worse when the parents are irresponsible or not too bright. The tyke is immature and does not realize the need for adequate treatment.

On the other hand, the little one may take advantage by using food as a tool to manipulate parents. These youngsters hate to be different, especially on reaching high school age. They want their cokes and french fries at the local hangout and a regular lunch in the cafeteria.

Physicians have found that a practical and flexible approach is best. In addition, the more the patient and the parents know about the disease, the easier it is for all concerned to live a normal life. Diabetes cannot be cured. It is a disability but it need not become a handicap.

The majority get along on a daily shot of insulin. Pills are ineffective in young diabetics. The diet is attuned to their needs and it is here that education is most helpful. Household measures and simple substitute charts help approximate the amount and type of food to be eaten in following a moderate dietary program.

By teen-age he should be so familiar with his diet he can adhere to it wherever he eats. He learns that during illness and periods of exercise, adjustments are needed in his diet and insulin dosage. This is a small price to pay for being alive.

American Officials, Businessmen Partly To Blame For Nazi Revival

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Shortly after the war, some of the highest officials in U.S. government began encouraging the reinstatement of Nazis in positions of German power and influence. So did certain American businessmen who had helped finance Germany before the war and wanted to build it up again. They rushed in to enlist Nazi businessmen who could help their investments and even began discouraging the trial of Nazi war criminals responsible for the slave camps and the murder of some 6,000,000 Jews.

In view of this example, set by highly placed Americans, you can't blame German teachers for failing to teach the horrible history of Hitler. You can't entirely blame some German youth today for flaunting the swastika.

The full story of how American officials and American businessmen reinstated the Nazis has never been put together. Looking over my back columns, however, I find it told in installments, beginning just a few months after the war ended. Put together, the installments make a damning picture of American guilt. Here is part of the story:

FAILURE TO DE-NAZIFY — On March 2, 1946, six months after V-J day, this column reported: "A secret report on failure to de-Nazify Germany has been made to the War Department, is considered so shocking it probably will be destroyed. It is now in the office of Brig. Gen. Frank A. Meade. It shows complete failure to clean out high-ranking Nazis, also a surprising number of so-called German 'laborers' who have secretaries and stenographers assigned to them.

This is one of the latest dodges to get around the employment of Nazis by the American army. According to Army rules, no former Nazi can be employed in any job more important than that of 'laborer'. Result is that many Nazis are used in important jobs, but listed as 'laborers'.

"These 'common laborers' are then put in charge of important manufacturing plants. The report now in the hands of the War Department was made by the public safety and inspection division of military government. It may never see the light of day."

NAZI STEEL CARTEL—George P. Weller, U.S. charge d'affaires in Luxembourg, sent a report, Top Secret No. 279, to Washington shortly after V-E day, urging that the U.S. unfreeze the funds of the Nazi steel cartel, Arbed. He also defended Aloys Meyer, head of Arbed, as not a Nazi.

Arbed, though operating from Luxembourg, had been controlled by the Nazi munitions makers. In January 1945 when everyone knew Germany would be defeated, Meyer pretended to exile himself from Germany, but the Nazis continued to send him funds in exile. Yet the American charge d'affaires sent a secret message defending him. (WMGR Col. Sept. 17, '46)

SS ELITE OFFICER—One of the top American officers in post-war Germany was Gen. William Draper, later under Secretary of War, and a partner in the Wall Street banking firm of Dillon, Read and Co., which loaned approximately one billion dollars to pre-war Germany.

Immediately after V-E day, Gen. Draper put Alexander Kreuter, an officer in Hitler's SS elite guard, on his personal staff and even tried to get him a travel order to go to Holland on a business deal, though Germans were then not supposed to travel outside Germany. Kreuter and Draper had been partners in a real estate venture in Berlin before the war. (WMGR Col. Oct. 1, '47; March 1, '49)

FORGIVING NAZI CARTELS —Draper, working directly under his old Wall Street partner, Secretary James Forrestal, appointed his son-in-law, Phil Hawkins, in charge of carrying out American economic policy toward the Nazi munitions makers, most of which Dillon, Read had helped finance in the 1920's. Hawkins wrote a memo asking that I. G. Farben and other cartels be exempted from decartelization. I. G. Farben operated one of the big Jewish slave-labor camps. (WMGR Col. 4/23/48)

NAZI BANKERS PROMOTED —Two former Hitler bankers, Herman J. Abs and August Schniewind, were named president and chairman respectively of the new Deutsche Laender Bank, organized under U. S. British and French direction.

According to a confidential report cabled Washington by Robert Murphy, then political adviser to the U. S. Army in Germany, now deputy Under Secretary of State, "Abs cooperated hand-in-glove during the Third Reich with leading personalities in government, industry and party circles. . . . Subject took important role in imperialistic expansion of Deutsche Bank following Nazi political and military absorption."

Herr Schniewind remained a Nazi favorite during the war even when his chief, Hjalmar Schacht, fell into disfavor. Schniewind moved from the Reichsbank where he was a director to Seiler and Company, in Munich, where he increased in influence as the bank was "aryanized."

Seven other German bankers, all with Democratic political background, were considered to head the new German bank under allied direction, but the two Nazi sympathizers won out. (WMGR 5/7/48)

That's only part of the long record of how Americans helped put former Nazis back into high position, despite the fact that they were setting an example to the youth and the teachers of Germany. More case history will follow in an early column.

MIAMI DIARY: I've seen Gale seven times in four days. She says she's busy "making the scene" with some teen-agers from the Key Biscayne Hotel. They hit the pool like barking seals. They laugh it up on the tennis courts and shop for hats and bobby pins and, in the evening, they attend Bob Neale's holiday parties.

Okay. I make my own scene. I play a round or two of pitch-and-putt with Jack Paar, who has the ill waste to beat me, drive a rented convertible (red) up and down the coconut jungles of Key Biscayne, send flowers to Tom Ferris's wife when he's away (she has a silly compulsion to tell him everything), visit Tropical Park with Bill Vessels, and, every evening, go out on the town with Ray Stone and his Bette.

Ray and Bette and I are the unholy three of Miami Beach. No hotel lobby is safe. We've made them all. One night we picked up Carle Erbe and Wilma at the Deauville and stopped in to see the show. It featured the Ritz Brothers. These men are mad and I knew them when they had their own teeth. Today, it seems to me, they are even funnier.

One of Gayle's favorites is Connie Francis. She is a plump little singer in long red portiers and she sang a number called "Infatuation" so beautifully that it moved two waiters to tears. We went from there to the Fu Manchu to swap oldtime gang stories with Al Goldman and Feet Edson. Feet was once taken on a ride by two torpedoes. He is the only man I know who not only lived through it, but managed to borrow $20 from his executioners. It is a sorrowful commentary on Feet's manners to note that he never repaid it.

Arthur Desser sat at the table, nervous because he was about to become a father. He's building a development on Key Biscayne called Cape Florida. Someone asked Desser how Al Goldman manages to keep his Fu Manchu help for so many years. "It's easy," Mr. Desser said. "Al speaks no Chinese and the waiters speak Yiddish."

Copa City is a big round red room featuring Martha Raye. It was a hot night in Miami Beach, but Miss Raye came onstage in a full-length chinchilla coat. She is wildly funny but, offstage, she is a soft-hearted sucker who has been deceived by experts. After the show, we sat talking about a man both of us admire, Jackie Gleason.

By day we had lunch with Max Lewis, a pianist who plays some of the traps down here. Max is an old friend with an 88-tooth smile. He was selling pianos and organs at Victor's when the pale northerners walked in. He plays cocktail lounge jazz when the lights are dim enough and, in the late hours, he can be seen coming through the rye. And vice versa.

Tony Bennett was at the Fontainebleu. Like most stars at Miami, he spends about 45 minutes onstage killing himself with music. He sang up and down the stage of the La Ronde room, a short dark man with a hoarse voice belting songs of love until mist glistered on his forehead—the tears of toil.

He bought a house in Englewood, N. J. It is part of the old Dwight Morrow estate on Seven-Day Hill. His real name is Anthony Benedetto and he is part of a migration of stars to Englewood. Joey Bishop lives there. And Bernie Krull, except that in Krull's case that's his real name.

On Sunday we paid $2.20 apiece at the Seagrass to watch a couple of porpoises hop through a hoop for a fish. At home, anyone can watch me do the same trick for nothing. Spent a little time with Frank Mackie. He and his brother sell lots of lots to lots of people at Fort Lauderdale and Port Charlotte and they recently put a Florida type home in Grand Central Terminal, N. Y.

Mentally, I can see a beatnik passing it by, murmuring: "I knew those hurricanes down south were rough, but this is wild." Visited a little with Dave Frechette in Opa-Locka and made my annual splash in the Key Biscayne pool. Did it in 18 seconds this time—in and out.

Over to the Five O'clock Club to see B. S. Pulley, a man who calls his girl Satellite because she thinks she's out of this world; then fishing in the Gulf Stream in the morning aboard the Sea Gull. I caught a five-pound bonita and sent the owner of the boat to be mounted and stuffed.

Gayle must be somewhere around here. I'm sure I had a daughter when I arrived. . . .

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

The world's population in the decade between 1950 and 1960 increased by more than 400 million a recent nose count reveals. Grandpappy Jenkins says he isn't surprised — he'd noticed things were getting a bit crowded around here.

In view of the international unrest and great scientific achievements, we don't know whether to call the last decade the Fuddle or the Fantastic Fifties.

Two California scientists, conducting a study of the solar system, say they'd like a sample of the moon's surface. Well, we can tell 'em right off there's no truth in that made-of-green-cheese business.

In celebrating the mid-winter holidays the French people consumed more than 25,000 tons of oysters, a dispatch from Paris says. That's about two dozen oysters per person. Everybody, it seems, had a cracking good time.

Concert Band Is Organized At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE—At a meeting Sunday, a concert band was organized here. Eighteen musicians were present, and a number of others had expressed a desire to join such an organization. It is the hope of those attending that the band will be available for community affairs, and those graduating from Mt. Savage High School Band may use it to continue playing.

After a business session, a brief rehearsal was held with Thomas Lewis conducting. The next meeting will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday, January 17, in the band room of Mt. Savage High School. All interested persons are cordially invited to attend. Those interested in playing with the band should bring their own instruments.

After the business meeting 500 and Setback were played and prizes won by Mrs. Bertha Kirby, Albert Swauger, Miss Catherine Graham and Charles Crowe.

Westernport Fire Losses In '59 Held To Only $800

WESTERNPORT — Fire losses in Westernport corporation limits were held to an estimated $800 during 1959, according to the annual report of Potomac Fire Company No. 2.

Fire Chief Paul Michael said the damage in the town limits resulted from 39 alarms. An average of 14 men and two pieces of equipment answered each alarm.

Damage estimated at $10,000 resulted from fires outside the town limits. Chief Michael said the alarms required 160 pumping hours and 250 man hours of fire fighting. Equipment traveled 1,000 miles to put out the fires.

The fire company purchased small equipment valued at $500 during the year. Purchase of a new tank pumper and a fire station is planned this year.

The tanker, estimated to cost $20,000, will be equipped with a 1,000 gallon water tank and will be supplied with a midship pump equipped with 4 1/2 suction and 2 1/2 inch outlet. Fog nozzles will be provided so water damage may be kept to a minimum.

The company has 54 men who operate a 750 gallon pumper, a 300 gallon pumper and an equipment truck equipped with a portable pump, portable over plant, combination inhalator, aspirator and resuscitator, gas masks and stretchers.

Friday Games
Valley at Allegany
Real at Fort Hill
Mt. Savage at Bruce

BY TED TROXELL

The second round of games in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League last night found the top three teams chalking up victories to keep their slates clean with identical 2-0 records.

Allegany held off a stubborn Beall team, 38-36; Bruce, on the strength of a red-hot fourth quarter, beat Fort Hill by a 60-48 score; and Valley upended Mt. Savage, 64-54.

Something will have to give on Friday, when Valley travels to Cumberland to oppose Allegany's Campers in the lavish new Campobello fieldhouse.

Roar From Behind
The Bruce Bulldogs, who met Mt. Savage on Friday, last night roared from behind in the fourth period to stun a Fort Hill team which has yet to win a game against varsity competition this season.

Trailing by a 38-36 margin as the third stanza ended, the Bulldogs took a 41-40 lead on Roy Beard's two field goals and free throw. The visitors from Westport then proceeded to stretch this lead to 49-40, completely turning the tide in what had been a bitter struggle throughout up to this point.

The lead changed hands five times during the evening, and the score was knotted on a like number of occasions, thrice in the third period — at 31, 33, and 36-all.

Beard and Bill Wiltson led the fourth quarter charge, accounting for 16 of the 24 points scored by the Bulldogs in the decisive frame. Wiltson was Bruce's high point man with 19 points, and was followed by Bob Wilson with 13, and Beard and Wright, 10 each.

Baldwin Scores 25
The Sentinels' lanky 6'3" pivot-man, Dave Baldwin, pumped in 25 points and played a bangup game under the boards, but his efforts couldn't offset the poor shooting of his teammates. Fort Hill collected 16 field goals in 65 tries, for a weak 24.6 percentage.

Allegany's favored Campers were given a scare at Frostburg by a Beall team that wasn't expected to make much noise in the WMIL.

The two teams were tied, 28-28, at the end of the third quarter, and while the Campers took the lead in the final period and held it, the Mountaineers battled them right down to the wire. A pair of foul conversions by Mervin Pope with less than a minute to play widened Allegany's margin to 38-33, but a free throw by Jim Evans and fielder by Wayne Metz pulled the Mounties to within two points at 38-36.

Fail To Connect
Pope was fouled with seven seconds to go and flipped in the try, but an Allegany player moved across the restraining line too soon, and the shot was nullified. Beall was awarded the ball out of bounds and got off several shots, but failed to connect before the buzzer sounded.

Taking scoring honors for Allegany was Pope, who caged 16 points on seven field goals and a 24 effort at the foul line. Wayne Shook tallied 11 for the Campers. Evans and Metz, with 15 and 10, respectively, paced the Mountaineers.

A 24-point performance by Bill Garlitz sparked Valley to its win over Mt. Savage on the latter team's court. Garlitz pumped in 11 field goals and added a pair of foul conversions to account for his point total. Rich Lybarger led the losers with 21 tallies.

Mt. Savage held the Black Knights to a 10-10 tie in the first period, but Valley outscored the home team by a 23-7 margin in the second quarter, and coasted the rest of the way.

Piedmont's overall record rose to 8-0 in the victory over the Blackhaws.

Hawks Outclassed
Coach William "Huck" Miers' quint limited Ridgeley to 13 goals and no Ridgeley player scored more than six points.

Wayne Russell was the "big gun" for the Lions with eight goals and 6-8 fouls for a total of 22 points. His brother, Richard, garnered 10 points and Loran Twyman collected 11.

Don Shillburg with 13 points and Gary Evans and Norman Junkins obtained 11 tallies each to spark the Elks' attack. Orville "Shorty" Rexrode dumped in 20 points for the Panthers from Pendleton County.

Kevin Edmonson and Gordon slammed in 24 and 21 points, respectively, as Paw Paw registered its fourth win in five outings in the league. Shade and Jividen head the Romney Lions with 15 tallies each.

Dave Koonitz and Louie Alt accounted for 47 points as Carroll Michael's Petersburg Vikings scored their third P.V.C. win against five setbacks. Koonitz racked up 24 points and Alt garnered 23. Bob Westfall and Lowell Mathias were the Mathias leaders with 18 and 17 markers.

Thorne Gets 10 Goals
Rova Thorne was the big scorer for the Mountaineers.

gany was Pope, who caged 16 points on seven field goals and a 24 effort at the foul line. Wayne Shook tallied 11 for the Campers. Evans and Metz, with 15 and 10, respectively, paced the Mountaineers.

A 24-point performance by Bill Garlitz sparked Valley to its win over Mt. Savage on the latter team's court. Garlitz pumped in 11 field goals and added a pair of foul conversions to account for his point total. Rich Lybarger led the losers with 21 tallies.

PVC Boxes Bobcats Defeat Altoona, 86-70

Young Scores 12 Goals, 27 Points

Frostburg State College's basketball team broke a three-game losing streak last night, spilling Altoona Campus of Penn State University, formerly Altoona Center, on the Frostburg court by the score of 86-70.

The victory was the third against seven losses for Coach Harold Cordts' floormen.

Altoona held a 30-24 lead at the time in the first half but the Bobcats forged ahead at halftime, 39-38, and never were headed again.

Leon Brumback, center, figured very prominently in the triumph by snaring a total of 23 rebounds. Ronald "Butch" Young led the Frostburg scorers with 27 points in 12 field goals and 3-3 fouls.

Ray Sigler grabbed runner-up honors with 20 markers and Brumback had 15.

Richard Clouser and Fred Tost were Altoona's top point getters with 10 tallies each.

Waterfield To Coach Rams At Los Angeles

Former Pro Star Gets 5-Year Pact

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bob Waterfield was signed Tuesday as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

General Manager Pete Rozelle announced the Rams signed their former quarterback to a five-year contract, ending a search which began at season's end when Sid Gillman was dropped.

Waterfield, 36, is rated the all-time Rams quarterback. He played for eight years with the pro club after graduation from UCLA. He started in 1945 before the Rams moved from Cleveland to Los Angeles the following season.

Following the 1952 season Waterfield retired. He came back to the club in 1958 as an assistant coach but stayed for only one season.

During the past season he busied himself with movie productions in which he is interested with his actress-wife, Jane Russell, and with a restaurant of which he has partial ownership in the San Fernando Valley.

Gillman, who led the Rams to a Division championship at the end of his first season, 1955, had a 2-10 record during his final year. He signed last week as coach of the Los Angeles Chargers of the new American Football League.

Shepherdstown Named Site For Regional Event
CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Executive Secretary Gordon Elison of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission Tuesday announced sites for regional tournaments in the 1960 high school basketball playoffs.

Class AAA (March 10-12): 1 at Parkersburg, 2 at Buckhannon, 3 at Fayetteville, 4 at Huntington.

Class AA (March 10-12): 1 at Moundsville, 2 at Weston, 3 at Princeton, 4 at St. Albans.

Johansson Asks Part Of $153,475 Held In Escrow

Discusses Plans For Return Bout

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A smiling Ingemar Johansson, world heavyweight boxing champion, conferred with the New York attorney general and the State Athletic Commission Tuesday, then headed for a gymnasium and his first U.S. workout in preparation for a possible June title defense.

Johansson and his adviser, Edwin Ahlquist, spent two hours in the attorney general's office answering questions regarding the promotional aspects of the fight last June 26 in which the Swede ended Floyd Patterson's reign.

Then the two had a quick lunch and discussed the past fight and the proposed bout with Gen. Melvin Krulewicz, chairman of the Athletic Commission.

After that session Johansson told reporters things looked good for the coming bout and that he hoped he would meet Patterson, whom he knocked out in three rounds the first time.

Krulewicz said he discussed various aspects of the return bout with Johansson and Ahlquist and that the Swedes asked for at least a part of the champion's purse of the first bout, which still is being held in escrow. It amounts to $153,475.17. The contract for the June 26 fight called for only $100,000 to be held back in case Johansson won.

After talking with Irving Galt, a member of the attorney general's staff, neither Johansson nor Ahlquist would make any comments. It was learned that Galt was probing any agreements made or planned for the rematch. The sale of TV, radio and movie rights is believed to be Galt's main concern.

Liberal Rule On Grid Subs Is Proposed

Checkoff System May Be Scrapped

BY NORMAN MILLER

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—College football rules-makers agreed "almost unanimously" Tuesday on a more liberal substitution rule without the time-consuming check off system which delayed games last season.

A formal vote on the new proposal will be taken shortly before noon, c.s.t., Wednesday by the 14-man NCAA Rules Committee headed by Gen. Bob Neyland of Tennessee. This group makes the final decision on all college rules matters.

Take Vote Today
Neyland said he was not at liberty to divulge the specific aspects of the new rule which was "provisionally" approved by the 26-man group of football leaders assigned the task of whipping the proposal into form for Wednesday's vote.

"I expect the final vote to be right along the same lines," said Neyland.

It was obvious the committee had rejected a return to platoon football, which was favored by the majority of the nation's coaches. Last season's game - delaying checkoff system, usually handled by the field judge or head linesman, was necessary because of a rule which provided that a player might enter a game only twice during one quarter.

"Wild Card" Subs
There was speculation the 1960 rules might provide for two or three "wild card" substitutes instead of the one permitted last year.

The 1959 rules allowed a coach to send in one "wild card" substitute whenever the clock was stopped. By increasing the number, the rules-makers would afford coaches more latitude in rushing specialists into the game without legalizing full scale platoons.

Mountaineers Play Cavaliers Tonight

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's revenge minded basketball team will meet Virginia here Wednesday night, still remembering last year's 75-72 defeat at the hands of the Cavaliers.

The Cavaliers will be led into the Civic Center here by team captain Paul Adkins of Branchland, W. Va. Adkins leads Virginia in scoring with an average of 18.5 points a game. He was one of the main cogs in the Mountaineer upset last season.

Hohn Haner of Madison, W. Va. is Virginia's second leading scorer with a 13.7 mark.

Wilt's Average 37.2, Twyman's 31.4 Second

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, with a 42-point average for his last 10 games, has moved within 35 points of leader Jack Twyman of Cincinnati in the National Basketball Assn. scoring race.

The latest statistics released Tuesday disclosed that Chamberlain has scored 1,378 points to 1,413 for Twyman. The Warriors' giant has played eight fewer games than Twyman and is outdistancing the Cincinnati star in average per game, 37.2 to 31.4.

Bob Pettit of St. Louis, the defending champion, is in third place with 986 points. Then come Gene Shue of Detroit, 933, and Paul Arizin of Philadelphia, 918.

Eric Monti Blows Four Stroke Lead

Suffers Startling Collapse; Florida Pro Wins With 280

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Steady-shooting Dow Finsterwald won the $37,500 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament Tuesday as the pace-setter for three rounds, Eric Monti, suffered a startling collapse and blew a four-stroke lead.

The 30-year-old Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla.,—often called best man but never a groom in golf circles—shot a final-round 71 for a 72-hole score of 280, four strokes under par for the distance. Finsterwald caught and passed Monti, 41, a Los Angeles teaching pro, on the first nine holes and left him to stagger home under the load of a miserable round of golf.

Monti Shoots Fat 80

Monti came in with a fat 80, grinning gaily as he approached the gallery at the 18th green. He posted a total score of 285 and a tie for seventh place.

In a spirited duel for runner-up honors, Dave Hagan of Orlando, Fla., 72; Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., 71, and Bill Collins of Denver, 72, finished in a tie for second at 283.

Tommy Bolt's 69 gave him a 284 and a tie with Don January of Denver, with a 72, for the next position.

Bill Blanton of Coronado, Calif., with a 70, and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., with a 71, tied Monti at 285.

Playing the 7,171-yard, par 35-36-71 Rancho Municipal Course, Monti started the round in quest of the $5,500 top money with a 34-hole score of 205, while Finsterwald was alone at 209.

Won PGA In 1958

Finsterwald, whose biggest prior victory was the 1958 PGA championship, played it 36-35-71—one bogey marring his round on the first nine, a birdie three on the 10th squaring the count with par.

Monti, to the horror of his local boosters, went four strokes over par on the first three holes and floundered for a 41-39-80 round.

Maryland's Bunge Leads Conference

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Al Bunge, 6-foot-8 senior from Maryland, has taken over the scoring lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference with an average of 21.5 points a game.

Bunge, who averaged 11.1 points a game last season, scored a school record 43 points against Yale last week to help boost himself to the top rung.

ACC Service Bureau figures through games of last Saturday show Lee Shaffer of North Carolina in the runnerup spot with an 18.7 average, followed by Paul Adkins of Virginia at 18.5.

Boggs Of Richmond Gets Jacobs Trophy

CLINTON, S. C. (UPI)—University of Richmond fullback John Boggs was named winner of the 1959 Jacobs blocking trophy for the Southern Conference Tuesday.

Runner-up was end Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech, the 1958 winner. Senior end Paul Maguire of the Citadel was third.

Boggs will receive his trophy Jan. 30 at the Columbia Touch-down Club's annual jamboree.

Spa In 5th Event WMI Charter Teams
Red Robinson Dies Warriors Get Jolt

By C. V. BURNS

CUMBERLAND will be represented in the 15th annual International Championship Tournament of the American Rubberband Duckpin Bowling Congress to be held at the Capital alleys, Johnstown, Pa., March 5 to April 10.

The Spa Bar team of Lou Bell, captain, Jim Rice, Joe Becker, Ted Warnick, Joe Felten and Tom McGeady will bowl in singles, doubles and team events on Saturday, April 9.

McGeady and Bell, Felten and Rice and Warnick and Becker will team up for the doubles. Teams from Montreal, Youngstown, Baltimore, Fairmont, and Washington, D. C., have entered the tourney in the past several days.

The Cumberland team will be competing for the fifth year. In past years the locals have participated in tournaments at Geistown, Aliquippa, Pittsburgh and Uniontown, Pa.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held yesterday in Pittsburgh for Stewart "Red" Robinson, 71, the former lightweight boxer, fight referee and baseball umpire, who died Saturday night.

Robinson will be remembered best around this section as a topnotch umpire when Cumberland was in the Middle Atlantic League in 1928 and 1929.

Other members of President Elmer Daily's staff were Frank Delehanty and Charley Schmidt, one-time major league players; Denny O'Keefe, Bill Ragan, George McNally, Danny Freund and Sam Richardson.

Robinson once held Battling Nelson to a draw when the latter no longer was champion.

In 1919, "Red" quit boxing and went into umpiring, putting in 15 years in the Eastern, Central, Middle Atlantic and Three-Eye leagues.

At one time he was regarded as Pittsburgh's No. 1 boxing referee.

MRS. Mary Humbertson, of Davidson Street, well known as the secretary of the Allegheny County Women's Shuffleboard League for many years, is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital.

BEALL and Allegany are the only charter members of the W.M.I. Basketball League still operating in the 40-year-old circuit.

In 1921 when the league was formed the four other members were Keyser, Barton, Central and LaSalle.

Beall High then was located on Broadway and now is Beall Elementary School. Incidentally, the Beall coach in those days was Prof. J. Stanley Hunter, who is now paralyzed and in an institution in Hagerstown.

Allegheny County High School in 1921 was located on Greene Street and was destroyed by fire in later years after it had become a junior high school and the senior high had moved to Campobello.

Ed McKeever Will Join Boston In AFL

BOSTON (AP)—Appointment of Ed McKeever, originally a Frank Leahy assistant at Boston College and Notre Dame, as general manager of the Boston team of the new American Football League was announced Tuesday.

McKeever, 46, lives in Baton Rouge, La., where he has a public relations business.

He has served as talent scout for the New York Giants of the National Football League in the Southwest.

Rider Is Injured

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 12 — (AP) — Ronald J. Campbell, one of America's leading apprentice jockeys, was thrown from his mount, In The Spring, in the fifth race today before 10,411 fans. Campbell was removed by ambulance from the track and the attending physician announced that his injuries were minor.

Campbell, a 16-year-old from Fremont, Michigan, has ridden 136 winners to date. The teen-age blond rider cancelled the remainder of his mounts on the program.

Recorders, Guards Sweep K.C. Matches

The Recorders swept three games from the Chancellors and the Guards scored a 3-0 victory, over the Grand Knights of Columbus Duckpin League matches rolled Monday night on the Club Recreation alleys.

Norman Sell of the Guards turned in a set of 197-526, highest of the evening. Other high scorers were Jim Collins, Recorders, 192-512; Jim Connely, Chancellors, 199-504, and Jack Loibel, Jr., Grand Knights, 158-442.

The standings:

Lebaron Admitted To California Bar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quarterback Eddie Lebaron of the Washington Redskins was admitted to the State Bar of California Tuesday, but indicated he may continue to play professional football.

"I hope to come up with a decision by Feb. 1," the former College of the Pacific star told newsmen.

SURPRISE PRICE

The average car buyer, we've found, thinks Mercury costs hundreds of dollars more than it actually does. It's so beautifully styled, so superbly built. It comes as a pleasant surprise that a Mercury costs so little more than the leading low-price name car—only $36* more for this Monterey 4-door sedan. No wonder Mercury sales are up more than any other car in its field—a big 48%.

THE BEST $36 YOU'VE EVER SPENT. This price difference over the low-price car buys Mercury's more beautiful styling. It buys a quieter ride (23% more insulation), greater stability (7" longer wheelbase), and extra quality. See and try 24 more advantages at your Mercury dealer's showroom.

Council May Set Rental Policy On Monday

Three Agencies Meet With City Officials

Official policy on the occupancy of city-owned property will be set at a pre-council meeting Monday, according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

The mayor said a decision will have to be made promptly since a number of agencies now housed in the Union Street County Building have been notified to move on or before January 31.

Several of the agencies have expressed interest in occupying city-owned quarters.

Mayor Keech and City Attorney William R. Carscaden met yesterday with officials of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, the Associated Charities and the Girl Scouts.

John H. Mosner, treasurer, and Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary, represented the League, which occupies both floors of the old jail in City Hall Plaza.

Seeks Same Terms

The city provides the League with free heat and water from lines of Central Fire Department.

League officials explained the agency must have first-floor quarters, due to the type of patients it treats. They said it now uses all of the building for clinic and office quarters, and expressed the hope that the city will see its way clear to let it occupy the building on the present basis.

The Associated Charities, represented by Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said the agency occupies quarters on the second floor of City Hall and that the city provides all facilities.

She said the agency would like to continue on the same basis, except it would like to have first-floor quarters since steps are a hazard to its clients, many of whom are elderly.

The Girl Scouts were represented by Mrs. George Miller, president of the Cumberland Council, and Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive.

Willing To Share
The unit occupies the entire Girl Scout House on Greene Street and pays for heat and light.

Officials said the agency would like, if possible, to occupy the entire building, pointing out that the building is old and that use of the second floor must be limited.

The Girl Scouts, it was explained, are willing to share the space with another agency, such as the Boy Scouts or Cancer Society, both of which have space at Union Street.

It asked, however, that it be notified of the name of any agency interested in renting quarters there, so it can sit down with the new occupant and work out amicable occupancy arrangements.

Briefing sessions were held last week with officials of other agencies interested in occupying city space.

Officials said two agencies, the Boy Scouts and Alcoholics Anonymous, last week asked for space in city-owned buildings.

Blueprints of all city-owned buildings were presented yesterday by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum for the information of city and agency officials.

City officials yesterday pointed out that a new formula is sought for use of surplus space in city buildings since Cumberland property owners, who already pay $3.91, the highest tax in Maryland, must bear the burden.

Mayor Keech reported this week that city officials seem agreed on a $1.50 and $1 a square foot formula, depending on who pays utility costs.

Plumbers Local 489 Plans Installation

Local 489, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union, will install recently elected officers at a meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Top officers of the local for 1960 and 1961 will be C. C. Clark, president; C. W. Sweitzer, vice president; O. L. Leasure, recording secretary; G. W. Rice, treasurer; R. L. Cross, sentinel, and C. L. Cross, business agent.

Orville Howell, a past president, will obligate the new officers.

Direct GI Loans Get Labor Support

The Western Maryland Central Labor Council is on record as approving direct GI home loans for Cumberland.

The approval by the AFL-CIO council followed a recommendation made by the unit's veterans housing committee, according to Stanley Zorick, secretary-treasurer.

Lucky Rusty

Rusty Haines, three-year-old polio victim who has been named March of Dimes Baby for Allegany County, surely is in luck. He and the other crippled children of the area are getting a big assist from public and parochial school children of the county, with the comely group of Allegany High School girls pictured above leading the field. In addition to volunteering as typists at March of Dimes headquarters, they have scheduled a number of fund-raising events in support of the campaign. Surrounding Rusty, clockwise from left, are Janet Shanholtz, Carolyn Hammer, Donna Stine, Kay Starcher, Donna George, Teate Shelton, Kitti Koegel, Sandy George and Rita Miller. Rusty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Haines, Potomac Park.

State To Pay 3.3 Per Cent Bond Interest

Is Highest Rate In Two Decades

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The State of Maryland Tuesday sold $23,121,000 worth of bonds which will require servicing at a net interest rate of 3.30 per cent, the highest in at least two decades.

The bonds were purchased for above-par prices by a syndicate headed by Chase Manhattan Bank of New York. It and two other syndicates, headed by Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago and First National Bank of Chicago, all submitted bids at a coupon rate of 3 3/8ths per cent.

But Chase-Manhattan and Associates offered the state a higher premium rate on their purchase. They will pay $1,006.44 for each $1,000 worth of bonds, compared to $1,003.20 offered by Harris and $1,002.28 by First National Bank.

Are Tax Free
Bond issues involved in the bidding are for a Maryland Port Authority loan, general construction loans and a general public school construction loan.

Treasurer Hooper S. Miles announced to his fellow members of the Board of Public Works that the net cost to the state of the Chase-Manhattan bid will amount to an interest rate of 3.30 per cent per annum to be paid to bond holders over the life of the bonds.

He contrasted this with a figure of 3.16 per cent from the state's last sale, a $10,467,000 issue on May 4, 1959.

The 3.3 is still considerably below the 5 per cent the federal government is now having to pay on its bond issues, but the state bonds obtain a lower rate because they are tax exempt for bond holders.

Is 20 Year High
This will be the highest rate of interest the state has had to pay in the 20 years that sales have been recorded in the Treasurer's Office.

Chief Deputy Treasurer Charles M. Speicher said he can recall the state having to pay slightly less than 4 1/2 per cent interest on bond issues, but that was during boom years of the 1920s. In 1939, the earliest year on current records, the rate was 1.24 per cent.

The cost of redeeming the bonds is charged against the state real estate tax and determines the rate of that levy each year.

Arbogast Appeals Will Case

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—John L. Arbogast of Cumberland asked the Court of Appeals Tuesday to reverse a Circuit Court decision holding that the will of his father, George L. Arbogast, was invalid.

The will decreed a $10,000 home to Arbogast.

His attorneys argued there was insufficient evidence to support the jury's finding that the son used undue influence on his father in drawing up the will.

The original suit was brought by Cleona MacMillan, Virginia Finn and George R. Arbogast, other children of George L. Arbogast.

The appellate court took the case under advisement, along with another in which H. Lee Ramsburg and Alva S. Ramsburg Jr. appealed a Howard County Circuit Court judgment.

The lower court judgment ordered them to pay for a land survey and preparing of plats by Guy C. Sykes, a civil engineer.

The Ramsburgs contended the owner of the property, Jason A. Parker, should be held responsible for the costs.

Sykes did the survey on a tract along U. S. 40 near the intersection of Chatham Road and owned by Parker. The Ramsburgs had entered an agreement with Parker for purchase of part of his property.

New Quarters For Juveniles Favored Here

Committee Meets Commissioners

The Allegany County Youth Commission's committee to combat juvenile delinquency suggested to the Board of County Commissioners yesterday that new detention quarters for juveniles should be constructed on either end of the existing County Infirmary building.

Six committee members met yesterday morning with the county commissioners. They said they were opposed to the placing of juvenile offenders in the existing County Jail. They added that it would not be feasible to develop such quarters on the top floor of the County Jail.

The existing detention quarters at the County Infirmary are not made for detention use. As a result, rowdy individuals have caused considerable property damage there and have annoyed the infirmary's regular inmates.

County Commissioner John J. Rowan said no money is now available for such construction at the County Infirmary. When there are funds for such a purpose, he said it would be considered. Commissioner John T. Mason suggested that the committee determine exactly what construction is needed for the juvenile offenders. When there is such a determination, the committee should get estimates on the construction cost and then report back to the commissioners.

Meeting with the County Commissioners were Louis A. Fatkin, magistrate for juvenile cases; John H. Jeffries, probation officer for Juvenile Court; Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the County Welfare Department; Miss Florence Marx, also of the Welfare Department staff, and Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein.

$3,500 Settles Damage Suit

A $5,000 damage suit and its out-of-court settlement for $3,500 were filed together yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was filed in behalf of Patricia L. Porter, an infant, by Arthur L. E. Porter and Josephine V. Porter, her parents and next friends, Oldtown, against Ramona M. Lease, 9 Ashbury Avenue, LaVale, administratrix of the estate of Howard Walter Lease, deceased.

Miss Porter was injured last July 19 while a passenger in an automobile owned and operated by Howard Walter Lease on West Virginia Route 46 about two miles east of Keyser in Mineral County, according to the declaration filed by Attorney John M. Robb. The declaration asserted that Lease was traveling at high speed, crossed the center of the highway and struck a truck. The girl, who was 18 years old at the time, sustained lacerations, bruises and contusions about the head, body and limbs as well as a brain injury, according to the declaration.

Lease, who was fatally injured in the crash, died the following day in Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser. He was 23 years old. Mrs. Ramona M. Lease is his widow.

The $3,500 settlement was signed by Mr. Robb and W. Earle Cobey, as defense attorney, along with Mr. and Mrs. Porter.

Small Boy And Matches Start Fire At Home

South Cumberland House Damaged

A youngster playing with matches apparently started a fire yesterday which caused extensive smoke and water damage at the residence of George W. Martin, 619 St. Mary's Avenue.

South End firemen, who were called at 11:43 a. m., had to don gas masks to get to the source of the fire, which was confined to a rear bedroom upstairs.

They used a booster line to quench the flames and were on the scene about an hour. They said a wooden bed, mattress and covers on the bed were destroyed by the fire.

The other two rooms upstairs were damaged extensively by smoke. Water seeped through the ceiling into the downstairs where the thick black smoke penetrated.

Mrs. Martin told the firemen that her small son had climbed onto a can in the kitchen, reached into the cupboard and found some matches.

She thought he had got some candy from the cupboard and didn't pay much attention to the lad, who went to the cellar to play and later to the upstairs.

Shortly after coming downstairs the boy hand his mother some matches. She asked him if he had lit any and he told her that he had, upstairs.

Mrs. Martin went upstairs but was unable to get into the smoke-filled bedroom. Firemen were summoned. She said that neither she nor her husband smokes, and they had not used any matches for about four years, since their kitchen equipment is automatic.

Mr. Martin, a foreman for the Potomac Edison Company, is being transferred to Hagerstown, and was in that city when the fire occurred.
